THE TRUSTEE'S MEETING

Some One Is Going To Get Into Serious Trouble

OBSERVE ORDERS

City Marshall Instructed to Arrest and Prosecute Those Using Water at Prohibited Hours

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was held Thursday evening, all members of the board being present, but owing to the absence of City Attorney Baker, but little business was transacted.

The proposed milk ordinance was discussed, and Dr. Mabry offered several suggestions. The dairy interests, represented by Mr. W. Morgan, were consulted in reference to the ordinance. These suggestions will be embodied in a new draft of the ordinance before being presented for final passage.

Dr. Mabry reported that some parties were not heeding the notice regulating the use of water for irrigation purposes within the city, and that while the majority of these cases was due to thoughtlessness, yet some were willfully disobeying orders. After discussing the matter fully the City Marshall was instructed to arrest and prosecute all parties in the future disobeying the order.

There is no question but what many people of the city are experiencing much difficulty in securing water at this time. There are many days when it is impossible to get water into a second story building at any time, and when the people refuse or neglect to give heed to the plan that has been worked out by Dr. Mabry to remedy, in so far as it can be, this water difficulty, only aggravates the situation.

It has been proven by experience that if the people will comply with this order all in the city can be served and no one will suffer for water, but when it is not complied with, the lower sections of the city have water, but the more elevated sections are at times completely without water, times completely without water.

There is no desire to work a hardship on any one, but in order that each section of the city may be served it seems to be imperative that the present water regulation be enforced, and proper officials were given positive instructions to see that the regulation was complied with.

The statement was made at the meeting that some families were so aggravated over the water situation that they had threatened to sell out and leave the city, and many reported that their lawns and flowers had suffered greatly during this season for lack of water.

The representative of the Civic Club informed the Board of Trustees that a number of citizens had failed to register and that they believed it would be a good idea to extend the time one week before calling an election, and in conformity with this suggestion it was decided by the Board of Trustees that the formal notice of calling the election would not be until Thursday night, the 18th.

Surely no citizen entitled to vote will neglect to register.

The following demands were presented, allowed and warrants drawn for same:

A SONG CONTEST.

Twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500) will be paid by the 700,000 Boosters' Club of Southern California for the best original song embodying the progressive spirit and the glories of Southern California, and typifying the Boosters' Club, with a membership of public-spirited citizens throughout Southern California.

This total prize of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500) will be divided as follows:

Five hundred dollars ($500) will be paid for the best poem suitable for musical setting and having a ringing chorus for a multitude of voices. The winning poem, with chorus, will be the words for which music will be required.

Two thousand dollars ($2000) will be paid for the best melody or music score for the poem and chorus receiving the award.

The contest for the poem will close November 1, 1913. Immediately upon the decision of the judges, the poem receiving the award will be given the widest possible publicity in this country and abroad, and the composers of the world will be invited to prepare music to fit the winning poem and chorus, and thus compete for the two thousand dollar music prize.

The city has been districted by the Health Department and hours designated when irrigation may be done.

NEW DIRECTORY OUT

Is a Creditable Book and Contains Valuable Information and Statistics

The second annual directory of Glendale, Tropico and Casa Verdugo has just been published by its compiler, James W. Conrad, and is a most creditable work.

The publishers say: "While arbitrary lines divide the inhabitants of this prosperous community into three sections, to all intents and purposes it is one rapidly growing city and should, and probably will be in the near future, under one municipal government."

"The information in this directory thoroughly establishes the fact that this is the most rapidly growing district in Los Angeles county, and it is therefore quite probable that the percentage of gain in population in Glendale and Tropico is at this time greater than any other city in the entire country."

"The number of names in this book shows a population of 11,996 in this community, proportioned as follows: Glendale, 7905; Tropico, 2325; Casa Verdugo, 928. The information for the last federal census was taken in June, 1910, and showed a population in Glendale of 2746. The information for this directory was taken in May, therefore the increase in population in Glendale during the past thirty-five months has been 5159, or 190 per cent, which is at the rate of approximately five persons every day during this period of time. At the same rate of growth the next government enumeration should show a population of about 18,000. But it is more likely to be over 20,000; in fact it appears that there is little danger of anyone overestimating the future growth of this valley."

As the city of Tropico was incorporated subsequent to the last census, there is no way of showing the growth of the city since that time, but it has been unusually large. There may be more ideal places for homes than in this valley, but they are undiscovered."

The directory contains, in addition to the usual information, a fund of miscellaneous information that will be of much service in this rapidly growing community.

The book also contains a map of Tropico and Glendale, which will be found of much value. The printing was done by the Glendale Press and is a creditable example of the printer's art.

GO AND DO LIKEWISE

The Pacific Home Builders have set an example for the city of Tropico that all would do well to follow. Last week they put a mowing machine, a span of horses and two good men to work cutting down the weeds on all vacant lots in the Angelus Tract. Then the weeds were raked up in piles and burned and this makes a much neater appearance than burning the whole ground. This is what should be done on every vacant lot in Tropico. The weeds are unsightly, dangerous to property and on some of the streets have grown over the walks to such an extent as to make the sidewalks almost impassable.

If every owner of vacant property would follow the example set by the Pacific Home Builders Tropico could be proud of its appearance. As it is at the present time it brings a blush of shame to your cheek every time a stranger passes along the streets. This is such a little thing to do but, but it adds so much to the city's appearance.

SCHOOL OPENS

The Tropico school opened Monday with an enrollment of 275, this being an increase of 40 over the opening of last year. A number of pupils will enter later. The state free text books have not been received, and this has worked some inconvenience, but the state text book board promises that the books will be rushed with all possible speed, and delivered within a short time.

Considering the conditions the school authorities feel they have much to be thankful for in the way the school has been met.

Help Civic Club Cut Weeds

The Civic Club met last Tuesday evening, and even if the evening was one of the hottest evenings that has ever been experienced in Tropico a goodly number of the members were in attendance and two new members were added to the membership.

The committee appointed at the previous meeting to take the matter of securing better car service for six o'clock patrons up with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce reported that the committee had visited the Chamber of Commerce and had presented the matter to that body and that the Chamber of Commerce had readily agreed to work with the Civic Club in bringing about this new improvement in the car service. At the suggestion of the Civic Club committee the Chamber appointed a committee of two to work with a committee from the Civic Club. This committee, consisting of Frank L. Muhleman and S. B. Shearer. On motion the report of the committee was accepted and the same committee appointed to continue the work. This committee is Frank B. McKenney and Harry L. Edwards.

The proposed banquet was discussed and after giving consideration to all conditions it was decided to postpone the banquet until the last Tuesday in October. The matter of cutting down the weeds on the vacant lots within the city was brought up and the matter thoroughly discussed in an effort to find some means by which this very much desired work could be done. It was finally decided to appoint a committee of five to take up this work, with power to take whatever action they saw proper to effect this work.

It was suggested that the expense of doing this work might be borne by voluntary contributions and a number present offered to start the fund with contributions ranging from 50 cents to a dollar. It was however decided to leave the whole matter in the hands of the committee to take such action as the committee deemed best. The committee appointed were: Dr. Wm. Mabry, chairman; Wayland Brown, Dr. A. M. Duncan, C. E. Nickerson and X. Y. Picajahil.

A committee consisting of Harry L. Edwards, was appointed to secure a suitable location for the semi-monthly meetings and to report to the secretary before the time for holding the next meeting.

LAWN PARTY

Given the grounds, the moonlight and good company nothing is more enjoyable than a lawn party, and the one given last Thursday evening by Miss Julia Bylof at the home of her sister, Mrs. Allan J. Boyce, corner of San Fernando Road and Brand boulevard, was delightful. The evening was ideal, the air balmy and the moonlight enticing.

The tables were set in the backyard with the rose covered pergola as a background. Chinese lanterns hung from the trees and the soft moonlight threw a beautiful haze over all, so that the tables presented a picture long to be remembered.

It reminded one of fairy land, but the good things to eat and drink were much more substantial than those the fairies are supposed to sup on.

After supper games were played on the lawn, fortunes told and music was had out on the porch.

All joined in voting Miss Julia and her sister, Mrs. Boyce, delightful hostesses and the Boyce home an ideal place for a lawn fete.

THE CURRENCY BILL.

Washington, D. C.—(Special to Sentinel.) The National City Bank of New York and that influential group of banks which represent especially the Standard Oil Company and other huge financial interests, is flooding the country with literature in opposition to the administration currency bill. As is well known, this new currency bill will take the financial control of the country out of the hands of Wall street and place it absolutely in the hands of the government. Placing the control of the finances of the country in the hands of the government, where it belongs, is what Wall street calls placing the control in the hands of "the politicians." The postoffice department is controlled by the government (or politicians, as they call it) and it is run absolutely in the interests of the people, and so will the currency of the country be controlled in the interest of the people when the currency bill becomes a law, as it undoubtedly will, and there will be no more panics nor hard times thereafter.

With the exception of the Wall street group, the other banks of the country are heartily and enthusiastically in favor of the administration currency bill, and the southern and western bankers have so expressed themselves in emphatic terms.

A PRACTICAL EXPERT

Talks On the Water Situation and Give Some Very Good Advice

Editor Sentinel:

I read with interest your editorial in the issue of September 3 with reference to the shortage of water caused by lack of pressure in the vicinity of Acacia, Oak drive, Ninth and Tenth streets.

At the present time a great many of the citizens of Tropico do not realize or understand the great benefits that they will derive by the purchase of the Tropico Water Company by the city of Tropico.

One of the holdings of the Tropico Water Company is a lot known as lot 15, block B of the Heide Boynton tract, situated on a hill south of Cypress street and east of Glendale avenue. This lot was purchased some years ago for a reservoir site because of its elevated position above the adjacent territory.

This lot is approximately 115 feet higher than the territory adjacent to the Ninth street reservoir.

By the purchase of the Tropico Water Company by the city of Tropico a reservoir can be built on this lot, which will give a pressure of approximately 40 pounds in the territory now subject to a shortage of water. With this pressure in the mains a pressure of 30 pounds can be maintained at the nozzle end of 100 feet of standard fire hose, which will throw a fire stream to a height of 50 feet; this is more than ample for any building in Tropico.

I have often heard it remarked that the pipe system of the Tropico Water Company was in a very bad condition. While there may be isolated lengths of pipe that are in bad condition, the majority of the pipe is in good condition and ordinary riveted steel pipe has to be in a very bad condition when it will not stand a pressure of 40 pounds.

In the lower part of Tropico this pressure will be exceeded and in order to take care of any pressure greater than the pipes can stand, pressure valves can be inserted in the mains to take up this excess pressure.

Another benefit we will receive by the purchase of the Tropico Water Company will be the installation of hydrants for the protection of our homes.

It has been proved by long experience that the best fire hydrant costs less than 100 feet of good hose, which means that fire hydrants must not be placed too far apart. The depreciation on fire hydrants is practically nothing, but the depreciation on fire hose is excessive.

By having the reservoir as mentioned above, we will be able to maintain a good pressure for hours, thereby enabling us to control any large fires we may have.

Taking it right through, the public ownership of water works has been the most successful line of municipal trading thus far undertaken by American cities.

One fundamental reason for this is that the water works business is naturally profitable. The income is easily and certainly collected and is regular from year to year. Water can generally be secured and furnished at so small a cost that rates may be at once remunerative to the system and not burdensome to the taxpayer.

These conditions have made it easy to operate plants without incurring deficits, and with general satisfaction to the citizens.

After enjoying the experience of our neighbor's house in flames, we give him shelter for the night and dismiss the economic aspect of the case with inquiries as to the extent of his insurance.

That every wage earner contributes to replace value which is destroyed, whether it be a city or an ocean liner, or any other loss, is plainly manifest, for the cost of insurance is an item in everything represented by dollars and cents.

San Francisco, Baltimore and all the lesser catastrophes are paid for, not by the insurance companies nor by the men who pay for one or another kind of insurance, but ultimately by the man who pays for a loaf of bread or a suit of clothes, or any necessity or luxury of life. The cost of living is in proportion to the cost of replacing values destroyed.

And the cost of the fire waste, like so many other evils, falls upon that long-suffering individual, "the ultimate consumer."

In conclusion, I have tried to show you roughly what can be done to protect our homes if the bond issue carries; if the bond issue doesn't carry you know what to expect.

Yours truly,
GEO. N. ADAMS,
Hydraulic Engineer,
235 El Bonito avenue, Tropico.

SLAUGHTERED

Far be it from the Tropico boys to gloat over a fallen adversary, but when a team comes here with eleven players, a manager, an umpire, a reputed big league pitcher and an awe-inspiring atmosphere, and then gets gonged for some seventeen runs, it's our time to grin. It was coming to them—and they got it. The "Owensmouth Babies" went down to defeat as cheerfully and gracefully as if they were used to it and apparently were surprised when they made a run.

Lack of space prevents a detailed account of the game, which of necessity would resolve itself into a chronicle of singles, doubles, triples, brilliant plays, bonhead plays, etc. The boys were fortunate in having a good umpire system and Cyril Laird distinguished himself by reason of his cool, accurate judgment. It is to his credit that hardly a dissenting voice marred the game.

To sum it all up the Tropico boys played their usual game, with just enough "hold-your-breath" plays to offset those of the "asleep-at-the-switch" variety. The large attendance was sufficient evidence of the boys' individual and collective popularity.

The final score is not authentic, inasmuch as the scorekeeper being a Bryantite claims it was 16 to 1, but we believe it was somewhere in the neighborhood of 17 to 2.

Let us draw the mantle of charity over the Owensmouth game and announce that the Tropico team will next Sunday endeavor to repeat the performance with the Western Wholesale Drug Company team at Tropico. The latter team replaces Burbank in the Valley league. Tropico now stands second in the league games.

The ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Club are making big preparations for their Carnival of all Nations to be held Friday afternoon and evening. An invitation is extended to the whole valley to come and have a good time.

LAST WEEK OF CONTEST

Each Contestant Is In High Spirits and Confident

FRIENDS INTERESTED

The Race Is So Even That It's Everyone's Race. The Most Interesting Contest

This is the last week of what was proven to be one of the prettiest little contests ever pulled off in California. Just two months ago the Sentinel announced that it would give away a $375 Kingsbury piano, which is one of the Wiley B. Allen Company's leading instruments, as the first prize, and a $300 scholarship in the Egan Dramatic School as the second prize, the prizes to be awarded to the young ladies receiving the highest number of votes in the popularity contest.

A finer lot of contestants could not have been found in any city. Each and every one of them have shown every consideration to the others, and in no instance have they attempted to take any undue advantage.

A number of merchants entering heartily into the spirit of the contests have given votes with each $1.00 purchase, and have assisted the contestants in many ways.

The Sentinel has added hundreds of subscribers to its subscription list.

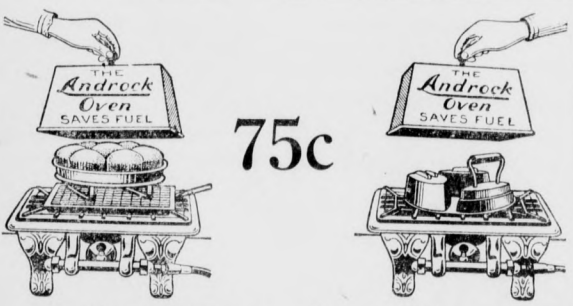

The contest will close promptly, as previously announced, Saturday, September 20th at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Stella Spear has lead from the beginning, but Miss Martha Cramer, Mrs. L. P. Putnam and Mrs. W. W. West have been close behind her. Last week they were not 3000 votes apart. There is no question but what the contestants are playing politics at the present time, and a number of votes are being held back, and at this time it is unquestionably anyone's race.

The Sentinel has made arrangements to have the results of the votes as cast announced on the screen at the Star Theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. The count will be made at four o'clock each day, and the results given each night at the theater.

Strong men master situations; weak men succumb to them.

Van Nuys is crowding over one little old piano factory coming to town. Humph! that's nothing. Tropic has a big sanatorium that no one knows anything about, and it never says a crow over it.

The latest is a statement made by Leslie's Weekly, a reactionary of the reactionaries, that Germany, England and Russia declined to participate in the San Francisco exhibition because Secretary Bryan serves grape juice at state functions. To what desperate straits are the old guard put when they are forced to resort to such ludicrous assertions.

Erratic Maine goes Republican again by a small majority. The G. O. P. is shouting itself hoarse over this and is prophesying that the Republicans will soon return to power. An analysis of the vote shows that the Progressives deserted their standard and returned to the Republican field. Its hard for a Republican to change his spots, and even that he makes an attempt should be cause for congratulation. The old Republican party, the party of special privilege, high tariff and party bosses, will never come into power again. Unquestionably a new party will grow out of the last defeat, standing for new aims and new ideas, what it will do no one can say, but the old Republican party which during the last quarter of a century has yielded such influence is gone never to return. A hundred Maine victories could not revive it.

Arrogant disregards for the rights of the public on the part of the corporation, an overbearing attitude on the part of petty officials, an abominable service, exorbitant charges and miserable service will in time cause the people to rebel against the imposition of the telephone trust. It would be hard to find poorer service than Tropic is getting. The company has promised time and again to make improvements, but promises have been all. When a corporation knowingly accepts deposits for making connections and such connections are not made within twelve months it is criminally guilty, and if there is no law in California to reach such cases it is time such a law was enacted. There are people in Tropic who have had their deposits up for a year waiting telephones and from every indication are no nearer at this time to securing them than they were a year ago. Is it not about time something was done? If the telephone company cannot give service, nor make connections, then steps should be taken to at least prevent them from working a bunco game on the public.

GET ON THE MAP.

Too much cannot be said of the need of concerted effort in advertising Tropic and the San Fernando valley to homeseekers who will begin to flock into Los Angeles this winter, but let us have some action on it. All the talk in the world will do no good unless it is followed by work.

There are many ways in which Tropic can appeal to the easterner who comes out here to find a home. Of course it would be impossible to go outside of Los Angeles, but even this one city presents a fertile field with its thousands of tourists and visitors every year. Taking Los Angeles as a field the question becomes, "How are we going to reach visitors to Los Angeles?"

To a man experienced in advertising and publicity work, the answer is a simple one. By advertising Tropic in the places frequented by tourists, the highest results can be obtained with the smallest waste circulation. A more inclusive exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce, maps, posters and books of information distributed at the information bureaus, a little judicious advertising in guide books, the selection of an agent here who can give information as to the value of property and answer all other questions and in many other inexpensive ways can the advantages of this vicinity be presented.

Not a directory nor a map of Tropic can be found in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. There is nothing to proclaim that such a place as Tropic exists, and there are thousands of people living in Los Angeles today who do not know where it is. The Los Angeles are not to blame. Tropic must get on the map.

GOOD GOVERNMENT.

There is an ever increasing longing for Good Government—a government that will bear equally on all, grant in fact as in name equal rights and privileges to one and all—a government that will approach that perfect government proclaimed centuries ago by the prophet Isaiah: "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even forever."

And never did this government seem so near and sure as at this time. Even the unrest that agitates the whole world is but an effort to bring this government to a working realization. In ever widening circles men are putting in practice those principles on which such a government rests. Truly must we learn that if we would be happy we must seek to obey that injunction "Whatsoever ye would that men do to you, do ye even so to them."

THE LAKES OF KILLARNEY

From Glengariff to Killarney was a good all-day motor trip, with a stop for a couple of hours at Kenmare for luncheon. This journey along gradually ascending roads and winding curves with such magnificent views of the surrounding mountains and Bantry bay and the valleys with the scattered white-washed and thatched roof peasant cottages was such a delight in the crisp morning air. On descending the car often went at too fast a speed for comfort on account of the dust, but then we would soon be relieved on the next turn to find our way was now amongst cool woods with dark shadows on the moss-covered ground. Our road took us by the famous Lakes of Killarney, but we were to know better what wonders they were after our row on them the next day. We went to the Royal Victoria Hotel, which was on the lake front. It was more expensive than the best hotel in the city of Killarney and in the circulars it advertised how many royalty of the nations of the world, including the late King of England and many noted Americans, had stopped there, and so we thought we would see what the best for the best would be like. Well, we were very much disappointed, for we found that the late King Edward was only Prince of Wales when he had stayed there, and we saw his signature from the register framed on the wall along with others of royal blood that the management prize so highly. It would seem such a fuss over mere shadows, and if they would put more emphasis on real comforts and conveniences, the place would compare better with the other high-class houses of Europe.

But the Lakes of Killarney! I might write reams about them, but could never tell half their wonder. So different are they from the Swiss and Italian lakes that they are not to be compared. There are three, the Upper lake with the mountains rising from its sides and a number of islands scattered here and there, none of them over an acre in extent, covered with the bright green arbutus; then the Middle lake, connected to the Upper by a river a little more than two miles in length, and this lake separated from the Lower lake or Lough Leane by islands and where the water forms the best passage between these it is named the Meeting of the Waters. This was a wonderful row of about fourteen miles through these lakes and river, and one of our boatmen kept us amused with legends of the places as they came in sight. The Old Weir Bridge between two of these islands is the oldest bridge in the world. It was built so long ago that we have no record of it in history. Some say it was built when Adam was a boy, others when "Cain was not Abel," but it is a well known fact that it is older than even Adam, for the corner stone was laid before the days of man. We saw where a bite had been taken out of the mountain by a giant, and he had left his teeth marks. He had started to cart this bite off to some exposition in Chicago, but an Irishman up and hit him with his shillie, and he dropped it in the lake and it has been an island ever since. The water of the lakes are very pure for drinking purposes, but the Irishman likes to add a little whiskey to take away the water taste, and also it helps to kill the "microscopes." There is a very deep lake in the top of one of the near-by mountains, and the water is very cold. One of the tourists a few weeks back wanted to swim in it, even though the guide objected. But he did anyway and while out of their reach he got a cramp and sank. They tried dragging the bottom with irons, but could not find his body so they gave it up as impossible, for the lake was too deep. When they got back to the hotel they found that the proprietor had had a wireless from the lost friend from Sidney, Australia, and he had come up there safe and sound. There are a number of guests at the hotel at present from there, but they do not care to advertise the fact, for it would ruin the business of the steamship companies.

Any of the islands would make a charming spot for an all-day picnic. Then there are the fine trips such as to Ross Castle now in ruins clad with ivy, and to the Abbey of Muckross, another picturesque and beautiful ruin. The land along the lake shores belongs mostly to the estates of two men and one of them is an American. Both allow visitors through their property on payment of tolls.

We also enjoyed the famous trip through the Gap of Dunloe, visiting Kate Kearney's cottage on the way. We left the hotel in the jaunty car, then changed to horses for the rough road through the gap of about six miles. The length of the defile was about four miles and is quite narrow and bounded by heights of rocky cliffs on either side. But my! the beggars after the pennies! Where there was a fine place for echoes a man was on the spot ready to fire off powder as we approached, and then as we passed held out his hand—for his labors, for which we had made no request. There were a number of these, and maybe at the next resounding rock there would be a man with a horn. Around the next curve would be poor Mary with woolen socks for sale or Katie with postal cards in violent hues, or Minnie with glasses of goat's milk or whatever stronger you would like, all urging in their turn for you to buy. After the next bend, you would hear the scraping and tuneless fiddle. As long as you did not let these intrusions disturb you, but kept your eyes open to all the grandeur of nature around, you have the most enjoyable journey through the Gap of Dunloe and at the end on the other side, the valley of the Lakes of Killarney is spread out before you.

OPENS STUDIO

Mrs. Myrtelle Decker Abbott, announces in this issue that she will receive pupils in piano and voice at her studio, 206 E. Palmer avenue.

She is a progressive student of music and has received unusually thorough preparation for her work. Having studied for several years with some of the best teachers in America, among them Ellen Beach Yaw, the celebrated prima donna, in 1905 she went to Paris and there took voice training under Monsieur Lucien Beron, now of Paris Conservatoire, and Madame Adiny-Milliet, of the Grand Opera; also piano work with Mlle. Alphonsine Rebay. In 1907 she went to London for coaching with Madame Guy d'Hardelot, the celebrated song writer of England, also with Signor Manrico Bocci.

She has taught in Los Angeles and vicinity for several years. Possessing a fine musical sense and enthusiasm born of high ideals, and thoroughly trained in the art of correct interpretation, she is able to awaken interest, inspire appreciation for the good and beautiful in music, and thus bring out the best in the pupil. The method of voice placement which she teaches is scientifically correct, producing perfect tones without strain, fatigue or variation in quality, thus insuring rapid progress.

Miss Decker will be pleased to consult with prospective pupils or to answer inquiries relative to individual or class instruction.

HAPPENINGS

The Bridge Whist Club met at the home of Mrs. O. S. Richardson in Glendale Tuesday.

Mr. Henry G. Pettit has returned from his vacation and says he is in fine fettle for the coming fall and winter's work.

Mrs. Frank Davis and family who have been spending the past two weeks at Hermosa Beach, returned the first part of the week.

Misses Belle and Ruth Abbott will be theater guests of Miss Kathleen Clendenon, of Los Angeles, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kimball and Mrs. Mamie Bradley, of Los Angeles, were entertained at a dinner party by Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Carpenter, of Central avenue, Sunday evening.

Mrs. E. B. Hall, 1038 Moore avenue, left Monday for Excelsior Springs, Mo. Mrs. Hall expects to be gone until next May, that is provided she can stand to stay away from Tropic that long.

Mrs. Martha Dicker, 210 E. Palmer avenue, returned Saturday from a delightful camping trip with friends to Coldwater Canyon, also taking in the Corona road races.

Mrs. Nellie J. Coyle, of Portland, Oregon, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Daniel Webster and Miss Susie A. Smith, of Tropic; Miss Nellie Fletcher, Mr. Wm. B. Hudson, of Los Angeles.

founded on sound understanding, the establishment of this bureau of public discussion is believed by the university to be of vital importance and significance.

The Davis Grocery Co. people have become so rejuvenated, enthused and jubilant over their increased business which came to them on account of the Sentinel's contest, that they are remodeling and repainting the interior of their place of business. The fixtures are all being painted white enamel and the post office boxes are to be rearranged and more space given to the patrons of the post-office. The Davis Grocery Company has been a busy place the last month.

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jos. V. Griffin entertained a number of their friends at what might be called a combined chicken dinner-lawn fete-musical. The chicken dinner was forthcoming in accordance with a previous agreement made, contingent upon the result of the recent Tropic-San Fernando baseball game, and it was the last word in chicken dinners. In the evening an impromptu program was rendered, consisting of instrumental music by Miss Katharine Hobbs and vocal selections by Mrs. Claude Sisney and Mr. Griffin, concluding with an ensemble by all. Everyone had a thoroughly delightful, old fashioned, good time. The guests were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sisney, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Markwith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spears, Miss Katherine Hobbs, Mr. Noble Ripley, of Tropic; Miss Nellie Fletcher, Mr. Wm. B. Hudson, of Los Angeles.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Prof. Moyle while on his tour to the northern part of the state obtained for the high school Mr. Gossett, who has been coaching in the Preparatory School at Stockton, Cal. His track team won the state meet at Berkeley last year. Our high school has, indeed, been fortunate in securing so good a coach as Mr. Gossett, for a good coach is a valuable asset in the winning of championships.

A good many of the last year stars in basketball and baseball are back at the high school again this year, and with these forming the backbone of the squads, it goes a long way toward turning out good teams. Those of last year's basketball are Bidwell, the star center and all-round athlete; Brown, the fastest guard in the suburban league, also breaker of the county records in the 440-yard and 220-yard dashes at the county meet in Pasadena last year; Gilmore, a guard, and Snively, a forward.

The men from last season's track are Bidwell, Brown, Jackson, Gould and Glazier.

In the baseball we have Turner, the star first sacker; Bidwell, twirler; Breeden, Tishel, Goode and Brown.

ARE DISPLEASED

Editor Sentinel: Knowing the liberality of the Sentinel and believing that the majority of the citizens of the Union High school district do not want to hamper the development of clean athletics in the high school, the athletic body of the Union High School is asking you and our other friends to assist us in having the recent order, which practically precludes athletics at the Union High School, rescinded.

Because of the complaint of a couple of women the old time honored conventional garb of the track and baseball team has to be discarded, simply because these women think it was shocking to see such short trunks and low cut jerseys. It is well known that the athletic suits are made with the idea in view of giving free movement to the leg and shoulder muscles.

The suit that has been prescribed is one with knickerbockers for trunks, and jerseys with quarter length sleeves. Such a suit is not only ridiculous in looks, but hampers the free movement of the limbs.

Glendale is the only High School in the United States that has to put up with such a garb. The student body is all worked up over this new and unnecessary law. The basket ball squad refuses to go out in this new style suit.

What would happen if our team should take a trip, say to Hollywood or some other such school? We would simply be hooted at and jeered off the grounds. The G. U. H. S. would be the joke of the south.

It is the earnest wish of the boys that this new "fantangled" suit, as they call it, be done away with, and the only way for it to be done is for the broad minded citizens of the district to help the boys.

A STUDENT.

Give truth and your gifts will be paid in kind,
And a song a song will meet;
And the smile that is sweet will surely find
A smile that is just as sweet.

TURKEY RAISING.

There are three ways to raise turkeys, namely, with the turkey hen, with a chicken hen or by hand.

The turkey hen is the best by all odds, as she knows the turkey business from A to Z. A turkey hen will cover from 15 to 20 eggs, and will hatch most every egg; if left alone and not bothered by dogs, cats or children, set her away by herself and feed and water, and she will do the rest.

The chicken hen will cover from 8 to 12 eggs, and is the next best way to hatch turkey eggs.

The turkey hen will feed and care for the young poults in every detail, and if allowed to range she will raise most every turkey, and with the least care. But the chicken hen will have to be watched more carefully, as she will scratch for them, and allow them to kill themselves by over-eating.

Now for the third way, and in my opinion the best: "Raised by hand." I take the poults when they are about a day old and put them in a Philo brooder, in this way you can care for them very easily, and they cannot roam all over the place, and if a fog or shower should come up you can put down the cover and they are all safe and dry, and when in a brooder your neighbor's cat will have to go without her turkey dinners, for which she has a great liking.

The young poults should be fed little and often, about every two hours for the first week or two, then every four hours for a week or two, and give them just what they will eat up in about five minutes, and never leave feed before them all the time, because they will stuff themselves and die with liver complaint. The best feed for the young poults is a hard boiled egg, onion or onion tops, clabbered milk and dry bread or oatmeal ground up together, and add the bread until all the moisture is taken up, never feed it too wet. Also add a little fine grit. When they are about a month old a little cracked wheat, and later whole wheat may be added, and remember that wheat and green stuff is the turkey's natural food at all times thereafter.

When the poults are three or four days old, begin to look for lice, and every week after this they should be looked at, because one louse on a baby turkey will do as much damage as five on a baby chicken. Never use commercial louse powder on a baby turkey, because it is too strong and will kill them, but buhach, which you can buy at the drug store, is harmless and it will kill every louse it comes in contact with. Hold the turkeys over a newspaper, and put the buhach on and rub it in, then after a few seconds shake or ruffle the feathers, and you will see the lice drop off on the paper. When you have finished, burn up paper, lice and all, and you have made a good job of it.

There are a number of ways to raise, and feed turkeys, and I do not say mine is the best way, but I do say it is a good way, and practical too, because I have raised turkeys this way for five years, and with good success.

HEALTH OFFICER'S TALKS.

NO. 10

"I DON'T GIVE A DAMN whether the people up there have any water or not!"

Thus spoke one of the two only men who have made objection to the Health Officer personally regarding the recent water using order.

Part of my reply to this kind remark was that I was Health Officer for all the people and proposed to see that all received the most nearly equal justice possible.

The good results obtained in a very few hours by this order restricting the hours of irrigation have amply justified the order. While conditions are far from what we would desire they are much better and if all the people would cheerfully comply with our rules they will be still better.

There are not many who are violating the order and some of these doubtless are doing so because of not understanding the boundaries of the districts. To make the matter more clear let us say: District No. 1 includes all that part of Tropic west of a line beginning at the line between Glendale and Tropic in the middle of Central avenue and running south to Tropic avenue, thence east in the center of Tropic avenue and beyond Glendale avenue to the back line of the lots facing west on Glendale avenue, thence south to the city limits. District No. 2 is all of Tropic east of this same line.

If necessary, and it looks as though it might be so, an example will be made of those who "Don't give a damn."

This water famine is no joke—nor is the order.

Tropico, Cal., Sept. 18, 1913.

WM. C. MABRY,

Health Officer.
